About the Unit

Recess Rocks! is a writing unit which focuses on crafting a persuasive letter expresses the writer’s opinion and including support for opinion. It appeals to struggling and reluctant writers because the topic is something they are interested in—recess! This writing piece can be made even more appealing by offering extra recess to any students who receive a set number of points on the rubric.

In the Common Core State Standards, opinion and argument writing is particularly important. It includes a spiraling curriculum for developing opinion and argument writing. It emphasizes using sources to provide specific facts and evidence to support the opinion.

Struggling writers may have more difficulty with opinion writing because they do not attend to the audience or purpose for writing. They view writing as simply writing words on paper and don’t put much thought into their message. They can have more success in crafting a message that they feel strongly about—such as recess. Students already have an opinion about recess, so the focus of the unit is on finding sources that will offer evidence to support their opinions.

Reluctant or struggling writers need topics that they personally connect to or care about to express and develop their opinions. Try these high-interest topics to foster opinion writing:
- Junk food in school lunches
- School Uniforms
- Homework
- Video Games

Answer Key:
I really like dolphins. I saw one when we went to North Carolina last June.
Revision Mini-Lesson Day 2

Hooking the Reader

Good writers “hook” the reader’s attention with a great beginning. A hook is usually the first sentence or few sentences. Try using a question to hook your reader.

WEAK EXAMPLE:

I am writing to persuade you that kids play too many video games.

REVISED EXAMPLE:

Did you know that kids today spend an average of 4 ½ hours a day plugged into electronics?  Say no to video games!

Let’s do one together

WEAK EXAMPLE:

I don’t like school uniforms.

REVISED EXAMPLE:

I really like recess.

Your Turn

I really like recess.
Revision Mini-Lesson Day 3

Powerful, Convincing Reasons

Opinion writing includes powerful, convincing reasons that are rooted in facts from reliable sources.

WEAK EXAMPLE:

- Video games are good.
- Kids enjoy playing video games.
- Kids get bored playing other games.

REVISED EXAMPLE:

- Kids who play video games have increased problem solving skills
- Video gamers perform 10-20% higher in perceptual and cognitive abilities
- Surgeons who enjoy gaming were faster and more accurate at advanced procedures

Your Turn

With your partner, revised this list of reasons to convince the principal to continue to have recess at our school.

WEAK REASONS:

- Recess is fun.
- Kids get a break.
- We can play with our friends.
Evidence to Support a Reason

Add power to your writing! Reasons to support your opinion should be based on known facts or from a reliable source. Try these sentence starters!

- According to research, ....
- Experts agree that....
- A study showed that....
- In the article, "________," it stated that....
- ___% of _____ think....

WEAK EXAMPLE:

Video games make kids smart.

REVISED EXAMPLE:

According to researchers, children who play video games have improved problem solving abilities and score higher on cognitive tests.

Your turn.

WEAK EXAMPLE:

Video games are good for doctors.

Editing Mini-Lesson Day 5

According to National Geographic, hummingbirds are the smallest birds in the entire world. They weigh only 2 oz.

Answer Key:
According to National Geographic, hummingbirds are the smallest birds in the entire world. They weigh only 2 oz.
Staying on Topic

Good writers include only relevant details in their writing.

WEAK EXAMPLE:

Did you know that playing video games can make you smarter? According to researchers, children who play video games have improved problem solving abilities and score higher on cognitive tests. Video games have ratings systems so parents know if they are too violent. In order to be successful in video games, players need to demonstrate strategic thinking and analysis, which are high level thinking skills.

Your turn

Which sentence doesn’t belong?

WEAK EXAMPLE:

My opinion is that schools should not have uniforms. If schools have uniforms, students do not have the freedom of expression. My favorite outfit to wear is my jeans and red sweatshirt. It is a violation of students’ rights to force them to wear the same thing!
Editing Mini-Lesson Day 7

Editing

Set a timer and have students edit in small groups or with partners.

---

Answer Key:

Revision Mini-Lesson Day 8

Conclusion

Good writers begin connect the conclusion of the writing piece to the hook.

WEAK EXAMPLE:

HOOK: I am writing to persuade you that kids play too many video games.

CONCLUSION: That is why I support video games. THE END

REVISED EXAMPLE:

HOOK: Did you know that kids today spend an average of 4 ½ hours a day plugged into electronics? Say no to video games!

CONCLUSION: Turn off the TV, unplug the X-Box and go play outside!

Your turn

WEAK EXAMPLE:

HOOK: Do you want to save time getting ready for school in the morning? You should support school uniforms.

CONCLUSION: That is all I know school uniforms. THE END

REVISED EXAMPLE:
Paragraphs

Writers indent to begin a new paragraph. This is a signal to the reader that there is a change. Transition words are good clues that you need a new paragraph. Mark the places where a new paragraph should begin and you should indent with a ¶.

Did you know video games can be good for kids? Playing video games actually has many benefits. For example, playing video games can make you smarter. According to researchers, children who play video games have improved problem solving abilities and score higher on cognitive tests. In order to be successful in video games, players need to demonstrate strategic thinking and analysis, which are high level thinking skills. Video games can also help your fine motor skills. A study found that surgeons performed faster and more accurately when they played video games. Some evidence shows that it may help with other jobs, such as pilots, as well. While playing video games too much isn’t good, they aren’t all bad! Go buy an X-box for your kids today!
